Bilingual Moot Court Conflict of Laws/Droit international privé

Inter-University Competition organised by Sciences Po – Law School, France

Recruiting criteria

ESL is looking for four master students to be part of the Erasmus University PAX Moot Competition.

Formal requirements:

- You are enrolled as a master student at the ESL during the academic year 2017-2018;
- Have a good grasp of (legal) English and, desirably, French. The moot has traditionally been bi-lingual English/French, but each participant (including the Moot Judges) may participate in English or French;
- You know how to work together in a(n international) team;
- You are able to conduct legal research on an individual basis for a range of legal issues;
- You comply with deadlines;
- You are willing to put in the work that is needed to prepare for the General Eliminatory Round and the Final Round. In general, there will be weeks in which you will need to do more preparation work and other weeks where you will do less. In addition, we try to take into account your exams for your master courses;
- During the days of the competition, you need to be available. The General Eliminatory Round will be held in Paris at the International Chamber of Commerce on May 22nd, 2018; The Final Round will be held in The Hague at the Hague Conference of Private International Law on June 1st, 2018;
- Previous participations in other moot court competitions or internships at law firms are an asset.

For the funding of your moot participation, the team will have to send funding requests; your moot trainers can provide assistance.
